

The English Corner

Beautiful cards for Mother's Day

The English Corner provides a place for students to come and use English to interact with the Native English Teacher, Ms Rochelle Martin. Each week at lunchtime students can participate in craft activities to do with English festivals: at Easter students decorated Easter eggs and for Mother's Day, students designed Mother's Day cards.

Other activities include Bingo and there is also a range of board games and DVDs.

Ms Martin chatting with some creative students in the English Corner

English Speaking Day

A Form Six student making the most of his reading time

Every Thursday is "English Speaking Day," where teachers speak English to students outside of class and all announcements are made in English.

The newspaper the "South China Morning Post" is also read by Form Four to Form Seven students in Silent Reading Period early in the morning. It is also used in newspaper reading classes where students look at issues in-depth and develop critical thinking skills.

Campus Television

Campus TV presenters

Students have seized the opportunity to express their views and share information through Campus Television. Every Thursday, an English programme is shown to the whole school. Students have a chance to present and to view their fellow schoolmates on camera.

Kelly Tsang (6S) shared information on global climate change and the film "The 11th Hour." She said she felt nervous but improved her pronunciation. "I can read English more fluently and my confidence increased too."

Ms Stella Au Yeung and her Campus Television crew televise a professional programme each week.

Language Week

"Language Week" was held from April 21-28. Students took part in game booths, an idiom matching game, a language quiz, an advertising campaign and an English debate.

3C won the language quiz. 4B won the best advertisement and 4C won the most creative campaign. The best actors were Chan So Fan and Chau Wing Han from 4B. 6S won the debate with Ian Chan Ying Yan named as the best debater.

The 6A versus 6S English debate

The Form Three Language Quiz

Guess the animal game

I think I know the answer to this!

The more questions you answer correctly the more you win

Ms Lam and Ms Lo at the prize counter

For the latest updates go to our English Department web-page at www.fyk.edu.hk